

Dear Dr. El Miedany,

I was diagnosed with Ankylosing Spondylitis back in 1987 when I was about 20 years of age. I am now 38. I have suffered with AS ever since. At times it has been like to the point that everything I do is based around Ankylosing Spondylitis. At Christmas my disease flared up to a point that I could not walk without the aid of my walking sticks. I could not put my socks on. I would have to be helped down the stairs and sadly at time to the toilet. I was in constant agony and obviously this had affected my sleep and quality of life. Things did not get better I even had to leave my job in early January, so I was literally at rock bottom.

Then I was introduced to what I see as a miracle, named anti-TNF therapy. Two days after the first infusion, the pain stopped totally; I could walk, sleep, work and more importantly be a happy husband again. I came off all the pain killers and the numerous other drugs I had been taking. The side effects from the drugs I had been taking cleared up. I have since had 5 more infusions and I am now playing cricket again, I can even run!

Infusions have been life changing for me and I will be grateful to yourself and your team for treating me with it. I hope other Ankylosing Spondylitis sufferers can be given the same chance as I have to rebuild their lives. It is really a miracle!

Kindest Regards
